Galera, não sei o motivo desse erro. Nem sei

explicar porque o método de correção funciona,

Após mexer muito em minha distribuição, transformando ela em Lubuntu, Ubuntu, Xubuntu e alternando isso de várias formas, decidi parar em

Lubuntu. Mas me deparava com o erro que está no título do `dpkg`, sempre que eu usava o `apt-get`:

E: Subprocess /bin/dpkg returned an error code (1)
(/verBanner.php?codefoo=247)

Obs.: A mensagem é maior que isso, mas não capturei o restante. Tinha alguma coisa a ver com "--configure".

Então, o que fazer? Consulte o gráfico (<http://www.google.com.br/search?q=verBanner.php&btnG=Buscar>) e veja um fórum que dizia que para resolver esse erro, bastava deletar tudo do diretório `/var/lib/dpkg/info`.

Ao tentar fazer isso com o comando `rm`, recebia a mensagem de que o argumento era muito longo. Então, fui deletando aos poucos. Primeiro os que começavam com a letra "a":

$ sudo rm -rf /var/lib/dpkg/info/a.*

 Anúncios Google

Sudo apt get install

I huntu install error

Depois outras letras. E assim por diante. Depois de apagar algumas letras aleatórias como A, X, Y, L, Z..., tentei o comando para limpar tudo:

$ sudo rm -rf /var/lib/dpkg/info/.
```

E funcionou! Limpou. Depois disso, fiz:

$ sudo apt-get clean
```

```
$ sudo apt-get install -f

```
$ sudo apt-get update

E o erro sumiu. Suponho que o comando clean acima deveria apagar aqueles arquivos. Mas como estava o diretório muito cheio, por algum motivo, dizia que o argumento era longo. Por isso tive que apagar manualmente.

Feito isso, tudo ficou normal.

Abraço!

Bela dica! Mas ao invés do malabarismo pra deletar os arquivos, acho que o comando abaixo seria mais adequado:

find . -type f -exec rm {} \;

Ou usar um micro shell script, como na dica: <http://www.vivaolinux.com.br/dica/Removendo-varios-arquivos-de-uma-lista-gigante-%28Argument-list-to...> (<http://www.vivaolinux.com.br/dica/Removendo-varios-arquivos-de-uma-lista-gigante-%28Argument-list-too-long%29>)

Um abraço.

Galera, o negócio é o seguinte: eu cuido de dois labs de informática e eu tenho que instalar o ssh neles. A distro que está instalada em todos os PCs (mais de 40) é o Lubuntu. Acontece que quando eu tento instalar o ssh dá um erro que é semelhante a esse erro do tópico. Estou tentando usar a dica de apagar tudo que está no /var/lib/dpkg/info, mas está difícil. Realmente ele não aceita um simples `rm -rf *`. A dica acima do colega Fabio também não está eficiente, porque ele pede confirmação arquivo por arquivo na hora de excluir. Se fosse em uma só máquina eu até faria a exclusão de todos, um por um, mas se são quase 50 máquinas, isso ficaria inviável. Sem mencionar que estes arquivos estão protegidos contra escrita e eu até agora não consegui remover nenhum, mesmo usando `sudo`. O script que o Fabio apontou pelo link está dando erro de sintaxe (bash: erro de sintaxe próximo do `token' não esperado `done'). Alguém poderia me dar alguma luz para ter esse ssh instalado sem problemas em todas as quase 50 máquinas de maneira eficiente?

Obrigado!

[9] Comentário enviado por lcavalheiro (/~lcavalheiro) em 15/08/2014 - 13:08h

@Xerxes, isso acontece porque houve corrupção no cache OU do dpkg (no seu caso) OU do apt (o caso mais comum), e por isso você deleta o cache para que ele seja reconstruído automaticamente pela próxima vez que você rodar um `apt-get -f update`. Essa sua dica é o caso específico daquela velha recomendação de rodar um

rm -rf /var/lib/{apt,dpkg}

Quando a distro segue direitinho o FHS, no /var ficam variáveis de configuração do sistema, e normalmente não é pra ficar punhetando nesse diretório não. Porém, como o Debian não segue o FHS em quase porra nenhuma, ela usa o /var/lib para armazenar caches de programas, entre eles o dpkg e o apt. Como a primeira coisa que o apt-get faz quando roda é reconstruir os caches caso não os encontre, erros (0..5) de dpkg e apt podem ser facilmente corrigidos com a remoção manual dos caches.

@Victoralm, "apt-get -f install" é diferente de "apt-get install -f". Sim, eu sei, é bizarro, e tem uma razão pra isso que eu não me lembro agora porque só uso Debian-likes quando meu estado de consciência está alterado pelo consumo de alucinógenos ou por impulsos masoquistas ou suicidas. Tenta a primeira forma e retorne.

Ótima a dica, temos a opção de utilizar o xargs

Acessa o diretório a ser limpo e execute o seguinte comando

ls | xargs rm

As vez quando estou instalando programas no Debian ocorre esse problema, com essa dica consegui resolver não sabia que era esse "cache" que influenciava.

Valeu xerxes, ajudando como sempre.

Bela dica! Mas ao invés do malabarismo pra deletar os arquivos, acho que o comando abaixo seria mais adequado:

find . -type f -exec rm {} \;

Ou usar um micro shell script, como na dica: <http://www.vivaolinux.com.br/dica/Removendo-varios-arquivos-de-uma-lista-gigante-%28Argument-list-to...>

(<http://www.vivaolinux.com.br/dica/Removendo-varios-arquivos-de-uma-lista-gigante-%28Argument-list-to..>).

Um abraço.

Vc deveria testar esse comando na sua máquina e ver só o que acontece antes de passar para os outros, sacanagem isso!!!

Bom Dia Pessoal ou Boa Madrugada!

Gostaria de agradecer por esta dica do Xerxes Lins.

Estive tendo o mesmo problema, não sei qual o momento exato que ocorreu, o que sei é que começou a aparecer estes erros toda vez que ia instalar ou dar um update.

Erros foram encontrados durante o processamento de:

javascript-common

shim-signed

E: Sub-process /usr/bin/dpkg returned an error code (1)

Um pacote falhou na instalação. Tentando recuperar:

Configurando shim-signed (1.17~16.04.1+0.8-0ubuntu2) ...

Installing for x86_64-efi platform.

Instalação finalizada. Nenhum erro foi relatado.

Configurando javascript-common (11) ...

dpkg: erro ao processar o pacote javascript-common (--configure):

sub-processo script post-installation instalado retornou estado de saída de erro 1

Erros foram encontrados durante o processamento de:

Fui no synaptic >> editar >> corrigir pacotes quebrados e nada adiantou, depois também pelo synaptic e atualizei todos os pacotes upgrade e não resolveu mas com a sua dica conseguir.

Como o meu problema era com o "javascript-common"

rodei os seguintes comandos:

```
$ sudo rm -rf /var/lib/dpkg/info/javascript-common*
```

^

```
$ sudo apt-get clean
$ sudo apt-get autoclean
$ sudo apt-get install -f
$ sudo apt-get update

E o sistema voltou a rodar redondo, muito obrigado!!!

Xerxes, muito obrigado cara. Já tava no segundo dia tentando resolver essa bronca...
O senhor manja das paradas... xD
